"'Death ends a life, not a relationship.' This quote has helped me come to peace with the passing of Aunt Audrey. Although she is no longer here in earthly form, I know our memories together live on."

What a blessing and privilege it was to have you as part of our family. How I idolized you as a child, you were so beautiful, warm, and loving. When I think of my Aunt, I think of light. How her life, however stifled it appeared, still brought joy to those around her. She may not have been famous or discovered something new, but her energy of spirit drove all that's right about this world.

The last few years were a lot harder on her after the passing of Uncle Tom and Missy dog, we are now at peace knowing they are finally reunited. She was an inspiration to anyone that met her, whether they knew her for an hour or a lifetime. Audrey always would help others without thinking twice. Even though she couldn't have children of her own, she dedicated many years to caring for so many. Children brought her great joy, and she loved each child she cared for. Her dogs, without doubt, were the highlights of her life and never missed a belly scratch, a McDonald's cheeseburger, or cuddles each night. Her home cooked meals were incomparable and made the world's best baked beans.

Aunty, you have left a remarkable legacy here on earth. Know that you will never be forgotten and always loved by all of us in the family. I was so privileged to have you as my very special aunt that meant so very much to me, you were such an important part of our family. If only we could have you here longer, your time was so short, but will forever be remembered.
