“ In my years at The Craftsman, I had the opportunity and pleasure to work with Clair on many printing projects including Annual Reports. On one of those reports Clair stopped by my office to do the initial rough page layout. We were sitting in my office with pieces of paper laying all over the table and the floor. It got to the point that we had most of the book on the floor so we moved the table and sat on the floor. Both Clair and I were oblivious to the fact that anybody walking up to the front counter had a clear view of two grown men sitting in the middle of the floor in a business office. We were on a project and it had to get done. A lady that worked for me, without saying a word, came by and shut the door. The moral of the story is: If you see two grown men sitting on the floor cutting out paper dolls, it isn't always bad. So to my buddy, keep those scissors sharp. (And don't run with them) One of these days we may have the opportunity to work together again on a "Heavenly Annual Report". God Bless, I Love You!!

“ Working at Chelan PUD with Clair was one of the highlights in my life. His quick wit, sense of humor and caring nature made my work environment so much more enjoyable. It was such a treat to run into him in the hallway, lunchroom or at any of our employee assemblies. You could hear his laughter wherever he went and it was always such a pleasure to see him, share a joke and a smile. What a wonderful life he shared with all of us. God bless him and the family. The heavens are smiling with Clair aboard!

“ God truly blessed our lives as he loaned us Clair for 80 years. He was one of His greatest servants. Our lives are richer because of all that he taught us and because of the example he set for each one of us. His lived life to the fullest and he found humor in every one of life's challenges. May God be with your family.
