“ You were my dad's big sister, but you were my entire life when I was little. You and Grandma Ruby. I loved and cherish our time we got to have together. I got to go everywhere with you guys. I still remember running back and forth to your houses (always barefoot) and always told to wear shoes. You two always making things grandma made fudge, chocolate chip cookies and chocolate cake while you were baking pies and dinner. Grandma passed away when I was just 11. Then it was us and we still did everything together. I miss those days. Going to see Uncle Donnie to get his paycheck at Marsons and getting groceries and always stopping by McDonald's. Every Saturday night we went to bingo. They used to have hard cards and I played with you guys. I remember lazy days we'd go visit Traci at fashion for twelve or wed stay home and watch all the soap operas. You always let me sleep right next to you. You were a wonderful person, parent, friend and relative. We're all going to miss you so much ❤️. You are someone I want to be just like and I'm going to strive even harder to make that a goal. I love you, we all do and I miss you.
