“ I miss you so much Grandma. Still can't believe you are gone. I still think "I should call and check in with Grandma" all the time and it hurts when I remember a second later, I can't hear your voice anymore. I love you. Thank you so much, for always being there and for loving me the way you did. I miss you so much. I am glad I had the chance to tell you before you left just how much I love you. You are forever in my heart. ❤️

“ I miss you Grandma. Keep catching myself wanting to call and check in. I found a "thinking of you" card I had intended to send to you just because, tucked away in a drawer today. Made me cry because you aren't here. I love you and miss you very much. I will continue the Christmas cooking making this year as I do every year. I will be thinking about you and all our time together making Christmas cookies. I know we were blessed to have you here as long as we did. I just wish it could've been longer. I love you.

“ oh mom. This is so sad. I would give anything to have you back, i saved the voicemail that i have on my phone, last one from you. i listen to it when i need your strength, so ya every day. things are strange, the estate and all that stuff ughhhh, wish you were here to keep order! we need your help. i need you momma. can you come by and see me?

“ i bought you a pretty necklace to wear while you rest on the piano. i hope you like it. it is so hard not having you here just to talk to every day, to say i love you to each time we talk. we are soon reading your will. dont worry momma, we will be sure that what you planned for us is done. you can rest quiet in the arms of the angels, i would give my life to have you back. missing you so badly

“ its been about a week now without my mom, i am still having a tough time believing that she isnt going to call me just to check in , or i call her to say good night. She is home with me now, on the piano where she can hear my sour chords and begainer tinkles. poor mom!! want to say thanks to Heritage memorial chapel for their kindness during this time of sorrow, they couldnt have done any better.

“ I met this beautiful lady when I came to their home with my new friend Linda in grade school. Over the years she became my second Mom. The first time I had her homemade cookies I was really surprised that they were not burnt like my Mom's cookies were. LoL . There's so many great memories of her and the family. I've been really blessed knowing this lady for so many years. And she still had all of her hair after raising not one daughter but a added one (Me),she didn't pull it out at all. Love you Mom W. You are already truly missed

“ As I was sitting at my dining room table the other day, watching the about 100 little wrens fluttering around because I had just put seed out for them, I found myself thinking. It was a beautiful sunny day about 54 degrees. I imagined Ema would be sitting out on the porch with her coffee watching the birds and enjoying the sun. For a brief instant, I thought "I should call Ema and tell her about the many birds." Then I remembered I can't just pick up the phone. I immediately looked to the sky and asked her (in my mind) if she could see them.

I read a saying not too long ago when my Dad passed (I am not sure who came up with it) that said "You're wings were ready but our hearts were not." I think this is absolutely true. I know our hearts could never be ready for her loss. We loved her so so much. She will be forever missed and forever loved.

“ this is the hardest thing i have ever done. my mom was so many things to so many people but to me, she was everything. she was so brave, as a young wife she went on a ship to germany in 1944 to be with dad who was deployed there. she didnt share alot of details of this time, after the war they moved to tacoma together and baby carl was born, sadly they lost him as a new born, mom always mourned for him. then came billy and they moved to monroe. we had a happy family life on the farm out side of monroe. later moving to town. she lost billy and daddy soon after that, and it was just me and mom for a long time untill jocelyn came along, her and her grandma henrie were the best friends. grand daughter laura was in on that too. it seems all too soon we left the house , she retired and moved to wentachee and she got a second chance at love, married doug englebretson and took on his grandson antjaun white as her son. many happy years were spent together in the east wenatchee home that they purchased together. i dont want to get to the part where we loose mom, she leaves behind daughter linda davies. grand daughters jocelyn and laura. grand sons jeffery ossman and antjuan white, great grand children, courtlynn and tayler boucher. Cody emmons, matthew emmons and scotty emmons, great grand daughter avery grace ossman. kennedy lee emmons and great grand son luca emmons. a large and close family all loved her so much. she leaves her doggie little toby who was too important to leave out. dozens of cousins, nieces and nephews, sadly all her sibilings have proceeded her. what do i say about moms life? she was amazing.

“ I have so many memories I can't possibly type them all. I am so thankful for all the time we spent together. To this day, I cannot have a Christmas without making cookies like we always did together when I was a kid. And I will not be able to look at a grilled cheese sandwich now , without thinking about her! She is the best Grandma anyone could have ever asked for. She was a huge a blessing to us all. We will always love you and miss you more than words. I love you, Ema.
