

Kelley Trader

September 17, 1965 - November 28, 2025

Kelley Trader, age 60, passed away on November 28, 2025. Born and raised in Edmonds, Washington, by her parents Don and Jimmi Clark, Kelley later made her home in Quincy, Washington.

Kelley had a spark that left a lasting impression on everyone who knew her. She was equal parts loving and bold, with a sarcastic and witty sense of humor.

She loved soaking up the sun on the golf course, often driving the golf cart for Steve which became one of their favorite shared rituals. She spent many evenings supporting her family on the racetrack at Evergreen Speedway, cheering on loved ones with the loudest voice in the stands. Kelley cherished life's small adventures like gathering around a warm fire with friends and family, or turning down an unfamiliar road just to see where it might lead. In quieter moments, she loved to curl up with a good novel by her favorite author, Nora Roberts.

Kelley had a way of offering comfort, laughter, and a listening ear to others whenever it mattered most.

She is survived by her devoted husband Steve, her son Tim, daughter Marcia, brothers Tim and Pat, many beloved grandchildren, other family members, and countless friends all of whom she treasured deeply.

Kelley will be remembered for her fierce love, strong will, and vibrant spirit. She spoke her mind freely, approached life fearlessly, and brought laughter and love into every room she entered.

“To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die” - Thomas Campbell

“What we once enjoyed and deeply loved we can never lose, for all that we love deeply becomes a part of us.” - Helen Keller

“ Her Bachelorette party. She showed me just how much fun she could be and was more interested in making everyone else happy on her special event. Showed me her heart and I loved her for that! ”
