“ It overjoyed me to see my Dad happy and in love with someone who loved and appreciated him. For that reason I loved and accepted her even before we met.
Once we did meet I could tell what a Firecracker she was. I found her to be honest, humorous and loving. We always got along even if we weren't the happiest with one another because we both loved and respected each other. Recently my Dad told me she said it was because we were a lot alike. She was my Dad's true love and my "other Mom" and we will all miss her very much.
