“ Bill- as a life-long mountaineer & backcountry skier in the western mountains and Alaska , I understand better than many, the risks inherent in climbing. That fact makes it no easier when confronted with the profound loss when someone close to you perishes while pursuing their passion in the mountains they hold dear.

Although many years have passed since being a classmate with you so long ago- after reading of Matt's tragic accident, I felt compelled to reach out. I feel your loss- as I too- have lost a number of climbing partners and friends over the years. And while I can't possibly fathom losing a son, my sincerest condolences go out to you and your family during this difficult time.

Matt's legacy will no doubt live on in the best way through the countless lives he touched through his work guiding and avalanche forecasting. Stay strong!

“ Dr. Bill, this is your former patient Tim Bender. I can't begin to express the sorrow I feel for you and your family. You often talked about Matt, while I was in the chair, and how my son Dan and Matt took similar career paths. Your tragedy hits close to home in that regard. I can't imagine losing one of my children. May you have more strength than I would at this moment. I am so sorry Bill.
