“ I am so very grateful to have had one last conversation with Neil. He was so very tired so I did no linger long. He told me he did not fear death and was ready to go. I have been thinking of the times and laughs we had when we lived near each other when we lived on Queen Anne. I will always cherish the good times. Thank you for the memories. At the end of our conversation I shook hands with him and said: "God love you Neil" and he said: God love you Floyd".

“ To the Neil Beamish, family.
Neil.
It falls with more sadness on my part than anyone can know to lose the only best friend one could ever have. I,would have trusted my life with you and always knew you would back me no matter what the situation was. Friends are forever no matter how far away and we were and are FRIENDS FOREVER. I, shall not ever have a cherished friend as you and I, hold you in high esteem.
Peace be with you from our risen LORD and SAVOUR. Friends for sixty years very long run. Could have chosen a Brother, you would have been him. I, will miss you until my death.
