“ Kathy, do you remember going to Hawaii with us and Norm and I decided that we were going to try surfing so we rented boards and they showed us how to put wax on the boards so we could stay on them? We paddled out on our stomachs to catch the waves but most on the time we were at the bottom of the waves rolling around in the sand. We didn't have shirts on and by the end of the day both of our nipples were rubbed raw because sand got on the wax of the surf board. We both decided we were not cut out to be surfers! I will miss you Buddy..... so many great memories with you.

“ Kathy, Jessica, Zack, and Alex, it was such an honor to know your husband and dad. He was among the kindest, and most giving people I know. When I think of Norm, I see a devoted husband to Kathy and an attentive and loving father to Jessica, Zack, and Alex. He also took my son, Alex, under his wing and was an amazing mentor to him. I am so sad that Norm is no longer with us, but I'm privileged to have had the chance to know him. I am so thankful, as I know you are, that he is no longer suffering. May the beautiful memories you have with him comfort you during the most difficult times. His legacy lives on in each one of you. All my love, Sandy Loomer
