“ Paul loved to fly! He said hanggliding was his escape from whatever stressed him.

Seeing this community lifts my💔 Thank you all !!

“ So glad I got to reconnect with Paul last year. Four old hang glider pilots sitting around on my porch, sharing tales and laughing large. He was looking and acting pretty healthy for a kid his age. His cancer was a legacy of Agent Orange. His name will never be on a wall, but that war keeps killing good people like Paul. Over two million of us were poisoned by our own government without our knowledge or consent. Rest in peace brother Paul.
